The central body of the trade fair district consists of Pavilions 7, 8 and 9 connected by a building structure dedicated to services and certain technical areas. Altogether, the 3 Pavilions have a surface area of 13,600 square metres and an under-beam height of approximately 8 metres, being free from central columns and individually structured as follows:

> Pavilions 7 and 8, each measuring 80 x 50 metres

The distribution network of electrical installations, plumbing and relative drainage is on the ground, as shown on the attached plans. Access to the individual utilities is via electrified columns (panels).

> Pavilion 9, measuring 100 x 50 metres

The installations differ from Pavilions 7 and 8 in that the entire electrical grid is realised with three busbars placed at a height of about 8 metres. Connection to the individual utilities is via down conductors with panels. Pavilion 9 is also equipped with a compressed air system plus a limited water supply and drainage system.

The Pavilions are equipped with all necessary facilities, heating and air exchange systems, as well as being fully wired for Wi-Fi.
